

When the number 0 is displayed in the number input field, and if you press +/-, the program freezes and then does not respond to any pressing. It is necessary to fix this error so that when the +/- button is pressed at zero, the program does not freeze, but produces some kind of error, for example, "zero cannot be negative", or "Incorrect value".

